

Insurance Coverage Litigation

Insureds and policyholders in Oregon and Washington regularly seek advice from Hart Wagner attorneys who understand insurance policies and, if necessary, know how to litigate coverage disputes. These disputes frequently involve actions for declaratory relief, breach of contract, bad faith and other extra-contractual claims.

Our attorneys draw upon their active and successful litigation practice that includes substantial trial experience at both the state and federal level. We are well-versed in the underlying substantive law. We have a record of demonstrated success trying coverage and bad faith cases, and have helped shape the law through appellate victories.
